Brady, J. A. Chouinard, J. Ganyan, Chas. Connor, Louis Hansen and Carl Hansen. The company's steamboat M. M. Chesrown, which was taken down from the Landing and across the Smith portage in sections, is now at Smith, unlaunched. The smaller tug boat, Alpha, is at McMurray. J. B. Griswold, who went down with the company in the spring, joined the Jones party, Yukon bound, and will probably winter at Fort Simpson. The returned men will leave for home shortly. The company intend resuming operations on the opening of navigation in the spring.
W. GIFFORD, who went to Graham by canoe, going by the Pembina and Peace, writes from Fort Graham on the 28th August, as follows: "Here I am at Graham on the Findlay and have not yet made my stake. The bars here are no better than on the old Saskatchewan. Dan McCrea, an old Saskatchewan miner, made $88 in five days, and he is the only one who has made anything. The bars do not go more than $1 a day and no placer mines have been struck. I am going over to the Dease with only a short allowance of grub. I have bought three horses and will only be able to pack them light as the trail—said to be 300 miles—is not yet macadamized. Moody and the mounted police are about six weeks ahead of us, and the other parties, Black Dan, Cayuse Graham and others about three weeks. L. GOODRIDGE and S. ROWLAND returned Tuesday from a week's shooting trip to Beaver lake. Game was becoming scarce as the fall flight of waves and geese had taken place about a week before their arrival.

THE gold dredge Otter, which is being built to dredge for gold on the river here, will be completed this week. The season is now too late to commence operations and the manager intends floating the dredge down the river near town and laying it up for the winter.

FOUR Frenchmen who had taken the Prince Albert route to Yukon returned from down the river and left on Tuesday night for Whitecourt. They stated that in one stretch of 21 miles they had made 28 portages. One of the men, J. de Jumbotte, was a cousin of the princess of Monte Carlo.

Geo. Gilmer, formerly of the H. B. Co. here, who went north with the Helpman party last spring, returned on Tuesday night from Fort Smith. After the party was divided he, with four members of the expedition, Hall, Hollwright, Simpson and Bannister went down the Peace from the crossing. The four returned to Fort Smith and will probably winter at Simpson. They, with J. M. O'Brien, are the sole representatives of the Helpman expedition left in the north. O'Brien is drifting mining some place on the Wapiti.

A ST. LAURENT, government engineer, who was in charge of the bridge work here, returned on last night's train from Ottawa. The department of public works intend constructing a stone ice break 100 feet in front of the channel pier so as to break the impact of the down coming ice in the spring. Eighty cubic feet of stone will be used in the pier which will be constructed some time during the winter. Mr. St. Laurent leaves in a few days for the Slave lake trail, going, probably, as far as Fort Assiniboine. The trip will be one of inspection in the interests of the Dominion government.

Is an interview with J. S. Macdonald, district superintendent of government telegraphs, on his return from a trip to Edmonton via Battleford, the Qu'Appelle Progress says: Mr. Macdonald was much taken with Edmonton, which he considers the most go-ahead town in the Territories and one with a bright future before it. So far from the collapse of the Klondike boom having injured it, building is going on in all directions. The railway bridge across the Saskatchewan should be completed during the coming winter, everything being now ready for the superstructure and with the advent of the railway Edmonton should soon rival Calgary, in point of size and volume of business.

EDITOR BULLETIN.
The letter published in your edition of Oct. 6th, by Dr. John P. Bennett, would have had discouraging effects on my wife and self had it not been for a letter from our son, dated July 15th and received Oct. 8th, 1898. The answer and comment you made to the letter is true and greatly pleasing to us all. In defending your argument I will mail you part of the letter we received from our son John Rudolph Smith, who left Edmonton March 10th, 1898, and who has never made complaints as yet. Here it is: In the wilderness of British Columbia. July 11th, 1898.

My dear parents: Well, here we are, 1,200 miles from Edmonton and still not at our journey's end. We are pressing onward, through swamps and fallen timber, but as Mr. Fleming says, (by the way Fleming is an old miner 1849, California, and is with the J. H. Mason party of which my son is a member). "The road to the gold fields is never an easy one." We all live in hopes as we expect to reach the Liard river in about 30 days and as that is supposed to be the new Klondike, we hope to send you good news. So you see it will take us very near till fall before we reach the fields therefore coming home this fall is nearly out of the question, as it would be useless to turn around without gaining anything except some experience. You see this trail is not what it was supposed to be. It has been one continuous fight all the way up from the mission on the Peace River, but not the fight the 49'rs had in California. One does not hear the crack of the pistols from the hand of the Indians, in fact we have not seen an Indian since we have been on this trail, but we hear the steady "crack," "crack," of the trail cutters axes as they cut away trees and build bridges across streams and valleys; making a road so our pack horses may pass through this portion of the great Northwest, where no white men ever set foot before. So if we succeed in getting through, of which I have not the slightest doubt, for there are some 60 brave hearted men on this trail, we should surely be entitled to the name of the "Pioneers of the Northwest Territory." There are about 18 parties with about 60 men and some 250 horses. We are the largest party. There is the O. H. Geddis party taking through 45 of the finest steers I ever saw. As the most of the parties keep in a bunch, we visit one another and have many a jolly time together. One party has a fellow with them who has some Sankey hymn books and we have quite a good quartette, so we spend the evening singing such hymns and songs as we can remember, and we are always called upon to sing "Home Sweet Home," "Where is my wandering boy to-night," &c., &c., thus we enjoy ourselves 'twixt all our trouble.

I presume you heard some very sad news from some of the would-be gold seekers, and from the newspapers, but let me say to you "Let no man's news scare you; don't believe anything you read in the newspapers about hardships." The only hardships we have are the flies and mosquitoes and, great scott, they do torment us. As for the other hardships don't take any stock in them. We have plenty to eat, good water, good beds, good rifles, and plenty of game if we wish to shoot it. So don't by any means worry for if any news can reach you, you bet I will send it. I have not had a letter from home since we left Edmonton. I am in the best of health and so is everyone in the party. We want for nothing. With love to all. Your loving son, Rudolph.

ST. BERNARD MISSION, LESSER SLAVE LAKE
(Special correspondence.)

In 1874 the Catholic mission at Lesser Slave lake was established, and in the 24 years that have come and gone since then, untiring energy on the part of the order in charge has effected a great transformation. The rough original condition of the land that surrounded the small unpretentious log shack which constituted the mission in those early days is changed, and now, at the present writing, the score of good buildings are crowned by a splendidly constructed convent back on the hill which terminates the gradual rise of land from the lake which lies at the foot of the mission property. The situation is a most picturesque one and made more so by the improvement that is being carried on during the summer months. The present head of the diocese, Bishop Clute, is uniting in his efforts to have the land cleared of a mat composed of very rough underbrush and decayed stumps, which characterizes the original condition of the soil. When cleared it is most fertile, as proven by the list of the different kinds of grain and vegetables grown upon it, given later on in this letter. All the labor, and it certainly is labor, connected with clearing the land has been performed by the bishops and priests and brothers. I am informed by the curate, Father Falher, that a very large proportion has been done by the bishop himself.

On the day of my visit I was taken out to a clearing south of the school house where I was presented to the bishop who stood, grub hoe in hand, the very picture of industry and benevolence. His labor will be rewarded next year by a crop which will help to keep the body and soul of some poor native together. When the next philanthropist drops into your office and starts to fill you up on some other man's troubles, just head him out this way. The amount of good accomplished, misfortune relieved and stomachs filled; the number of vermin infested kids scrubbed, clothed and set in rows to be christened will make him a dummy for the rest of his natural life. "Honor to whom honor is due," the poet sang; after seeing the daily labor performed by these people, particularly the sisters of charity, I cannot but coincide with the poet.

Between 50 and 60 children, boys and girls, are being looked after at the present time. They are housed, fed, clothed and schooled. Just now the fishing season is close at hand, when the heads of the families go off to the nets and the children are left at the mission. They return from the fishing about the latter part of October, stay but to say "good by," and are off again to the hunting grounds for the winter. During all this time the children are cared for most carefully by the sisters. Some times the number of children in charge of the sisters will swell to something over 100 and for nine sisters to superintend a family of that number is almost beyond the range of human possibility; yet they do it.

The feeding of this peculiar brand of children is a colossal problem. They are the finest eaters on earth and can tuck more under their pinies than any ordinary corporation laborer. The hustling of food falls upon the shoulders of the bishop, priests and brothers. It was my pleasure, accompanied by Father Falher, a most courteous gentleman, to visit the field laid out for gardening purposes. Brother Laroie, a man with an exceptionally broad knowledge of agricultural products, conducted us over the entire farm, where I saw the following roots and vegetables, nearing if not at the age of complete maturity: Barley, oats and wheat, of which I enclose a sample, corn, potatoes, turnips, onions, carrots and squash. I weighed a turnip of the purple top variety which tipped the scales at 19 pounds. I also saw weighed the following: Twenty-four onions, 21 pounds; one potato 3 1/2 pounds; one carrot, 2 1/2 pounds; one squash, 36 pounds, and the yield in all vegetables is large every year. They have 80 head of stock, hay being put up to winter them on, and one of the brothers is at the fishing grounds at the present writing getting fish for the daily consumption. When the weather gets cooler the winter supply will be put up, and a vast quantity is necessary to put them over the winter.

A saw mill was brought in this spring and a little less than 100,000 feet of lumber was sawed this summer. A large mill will be built this winter and as the mill has a capacity of 10,000 feet per day, plenty of lumber is assured this country next summer. A grist mill is also part of the mission property and after its erection this section will be pretty near able to live within itself.

IT DOESN'T PAY

To put off buying a Wrap too long. The real good you get out of a new Cloak, Jacket or Cape is early in the season when the skies are clear and the sidewalks dry.

Later, when the gloom of midwinter settles down upon everything, a warm room holds you and a wardrobe holds your wrap. This weather invites you out of doors, and our beautiful line of Cloaks and Capes invites your investments.

Can you resist all this? Nay, verily. You will find style, fit, durability in every Jacket, not flash and show, but sterling worth.

On Monday morning the district was enjoying splendid autumn weather; on Tuesday morning the yet unfrozen ground was covered with a carpet of snow six inches deep. The transition, though sudden, was neither unwelcome nor unpleasant, for winter introduced itself with all due delicacy and in a mild and gentle manner to which no one could take exception. On Monday afternoon the first flakes fell, in a hesitating, apologetic manner, then becoming bolder the crystallized vapor came down rapidly, though silently, in large and heavy flakes and so continued throughout the night, until in the morning we woke to find that winter was with us. The temperature is however, barely cold enough to keep the snow from thawing altogether. One good deed the snow has done is to quench effectually the smouldering prairie fires, which have fortunately been very few this season. Another act, not quite so charitable, was to cause outside building operations to be temporarily suspended. Now, as the snow has ceased to fall, work is being resumed and building operations pushed forward. Whether the snow will remain or not seems doubtful, but the fact that the ground beneath is entirely free from frost would tend to the belief that it must go.

THE HOSPITAL.
The ladies of the hospital aid society wish to make public these details of their meeting held on Tuesday, the 11th inst., in the hope that this will remove many current misconceptions concerning the management of the Edmonton general hospital. It having been represented to several members of the hospital aid that reports injurious to the sisters were being circulated in town, inquiries were made and the following written statements procured which were read at the meeting.
Edmonton, Oct. 10th.
1. To all parties concerned: Having been requested by the hospital aid society to furnish a written statement regarding my treatment while an inmate of the hospital, I may say that I am highly pleased with the care and attention shown to me by the sisters. The only ground for any complaint being that I was presented with a bill for board and attendance when I was in a very low condition.

Edmonton, Oct. 10th.
2. To the secretary of ladies' hospital aid: The ladies of the hospital aid have asked me to put in writing a complaint made by myself to the sisters of the hospital while visiting a patient that I found had been bothered for money while dangerously ill and who showed me a receipt for money paid them that money had been which I complained to the sister before leaving the hospital.
In answer to these statements the sisters said: "The patient in question was admitted on the 8th of September, requesting a private ward as a paying patient, and in accordance with the rules of the hospital he was asked if he would pay a week in advance which he did without hesitation, giving the sister the sum of seven dollars, the charge for a week's board and attendance in a private ward. At the end of the week the sister brought him a bill for seven dollars for the second week, on which he paid five dollars on account, saying that he was all the money he had with him. When he entered and on this occasion were the only occasions on which he was asked for money. At the time this bill was presented the patient was not delirious and the doctor said he was out of danger. He paid this $5 on the 16th of September, and was sufficiently well to leave the hospital on the 25th, paying the amount of his account for which he voluntarily asked the preceding evening. The visitor who made the second complaint did speak to the sister in charge, saying that the patient was troubled about the money for his expenses, telling the sister that his account would be paid and requesting that he should not be asked for it again.
The sister in charge on hearing this went at once to the patient telling him not to think any more about the matter and that he could pay at his own convenience."
In answer to the question asked by the ladies aid as to whether the sisters were willing to receive the poor who could pay nothing whatever, the Sister Superior said: "We have never refused to take in any poor person whatsoever since this hospital was opened. In the future as in the past we shall continue to receive those who cannot pay anything, but for the support of so many poor people we need some assistance."

Several other reports against the management of the hospital, which had come to the knowledge of various members of the aid, were repeated to the meeting, and answered by the sisters.
At this meeting it was decided that in future the funds of the ladies aid would be used to pay the difference between the amount of the government grant for non-paying patients, and 50 cents a day, which is the sum charged in the public wards for such as are in a position to pay it.

But it was distinctly stated by the Sister Superior, that no poor person would be refused admittance, even if the society should have no funds available for the purpose.

To the Electors
OF THE VICTORIA DISTRICT.

GENTLEMEN:—For the past four years I have been your representative in the Legislative Assembly, and now, at the request of a large number of the electors, I once more ask for your support in the coming election.

I do not for one moment suppose that I have pleased everybody, but at the same time I would ask that each and every elector will give consideration to what I have tried to do, and have done, for the general benefit of the constituency and country as large.

In going about I find a continued demand for new roads and bridges, owing to the rapid increase of settlement. I also find that there is a necessity for water supply. If elected, these matters will receive my earnest attention.

I find that there has been discontent all over the constituency about not leaving the expenditure of road and bridge money in the hands of the statute labor districts. This matter is now being remedied, and hereafter I will see that these monies will be expended through the overseers of the different road districts, and will continue to do so as long as the work is properly done.

At an early date I will call meetings and will discuss these and other important matters with the electors.

Yours obediently,
F. FRASER TIMS.

Not the greatest weight for that is not the proper way to estimate the value of tea, it is the strength and flavor that determine it. What is called tea can be bought for a few cents per pound and yet it is expensive.

Ram Lal's Pure Indian Tea

has never been known as a "cheap" tea, yet it is economical because of its purity, flavor, and great strength. It will brew nearly double the number of good cups of tea that any other brand will, and no other tea in the world will hold its flavor so well against the Alkali Waters of the North West.
Ram Lal's Tea is a pure Indian Blend put up in sealed packets which retain all the strength, original delicate aroma and delicious flavor.

To the Electors
OF THE DISTRICT OF VICTORIA.

GENTLEMEN:—A number of the electors of the district of Victoria having requested me to offer as a candidate in the election for a representative in the Legislative Assembly of the Territories to be held very soon, I announce my consent to do so and hereby solicit the support of each voter in the constituency.

Having lived in the Northwest now for the past eleven years I consider myself well acquainted with the requirements of the country. I shall endeavor to meet you all publicly as soon as opportunity will permit. Meanwhile I respectfully desire those who favor my candidature to promote it by every legitimate means. If elected to represent you it will be my aim to see that justice is done to every section of the district in accordance with its requirements and to support such legislation as shall be timely and in the best interests of the country as a whole.

In conclusion I will only say that if elected to represent you I shall consider I have been greatly honored, and I hope under the divine guidance I shall ever seek that I shall prove myself in every way worthy of the trust committed by you into my hands.

I am, gentlemen,
Yours respectfully,
